The theme for this year's yearbook is STANDING OUT-OUTSTANDING. The staff chose the theme to show all of the things that stand out at Scotus.

When we think of people or things that stand out, they usually are accompanied by emotional adjectives such as fantastic, horrible, sweet, etc., and that's basically the way the yearbook staff could describe the year.

Some of the things that stood out as fantastic this year were the volleyball team, girls' cross country, speech team, and mock trial. There was also the addition of the new media center and soccer.

One thing that stood out as horrible was the realization that this was Mr. Jack Sadle's last year with us, but he supervised one of the "sweetest" proms Scotus has ever seen.

All of us on the yearbook staff with the help of all of you will show you the ups and downs, ins and outs, the successes and the failures of our last year at Scotus. We will show you within the cover of this book how life at Scotus is OUTSTANDING.

SCANDALS

When we the yearbook staff, chose "STANDING OUT" as our theme, we decided to publish the news that STOOD OUT the most over the past year. What could STAND OUT more than the scandals across the world?

Judge Clarence Thomas had a long road to struggle before being elected Supreme Court Judge. A scandal came OUT when Anita Hill charged Thomas with sexual harassment. The jury, however, did not believe her, and Thomas STOOD OUT in the courtroom. One of the biggest shocks was Magic Johnson announcing that he is HIV positive. He now goes OUT to speak to groups about AIDS awareness.

Mike Tyson will not be delivering any knock OUT punches for awhile. He is in jail for rape. The riots in L.A. will be remembered as a racial civil war, stemming from the innocent verdict handed down to the officers accused of beating Rodney King.

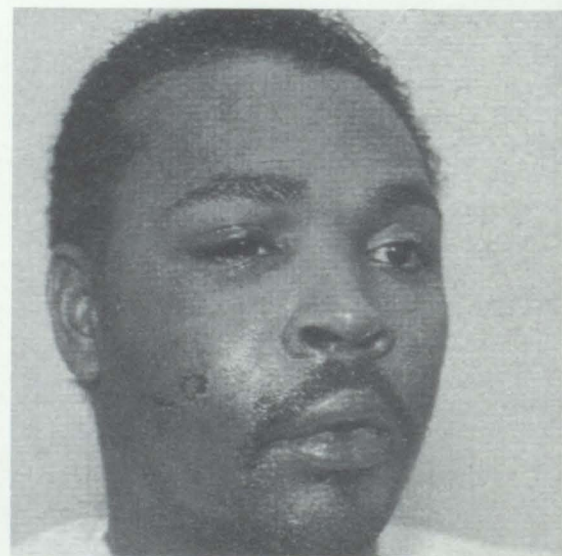

Magic Johnson talks to his fans at a New York Knicks game after releasing to the press that he is HIV positive.

Judge Clarence Thomas is sworn in as Supreme Court Justice after his innocent verdict.

Former Heavy Weight Champion Mike Tyson shows his shiny grin even after being convicted of rape.

This picture shows the result of the beating that Rodney King received from L.A. police officers.

Jeffery Dahmer leaves the courtroom after admitting that he killed and dismembered at least 17 people over the last 13 years.

Jean Sutherland kisses her husband, Thomas, after his release from captivity in Lebanon.

U. S. Senator Bob Kerrey delivers a speech while campaigning for the democratic presidential nomination.

William Kennedy Smith leaves the courtroom after being found not guilty of sexual assault.

NEWS

If someone asked you what events were the most memorable over this past year, it would be difficult to remember them all. We as a yearbook staff have tried to present you with events locally, throughout the state, nationally, and worldly that were important. We chose events that STOOD OUT in newspapers and magazines over the 91-92 school year.

In our school, you can't miss the new addition that has taken over the junior hall. Locally, a strong protest against abortion took place in Columbus. Finally, the Husker seniors weren't STANDING AROUND when they played basketball against the Columbus crew.

Nationally, Jeffery Dahmer was in and OUT of the courtroom for murder convictions. William Kennedy Smith was found not guilty of sexual assault. Thomas Sutherland didn't STAND AROUND long after being released from Lebanon this year. He was OUT and about seeing old friends and visiting remembered places.

No matter where in the world the news occurs, it usually STANDS OUT in somebody's mind. So don't be caught STANDING around not knowing what is going on OUT there!

Hundreds of Nebraskans come to Columbus to express their pro-life views.

Former Nebraska quarterback Kei-then McCant goes up for a layup during the senior fundraiser in which the Cornhusker seniors beat the Columbus crew 106-116.

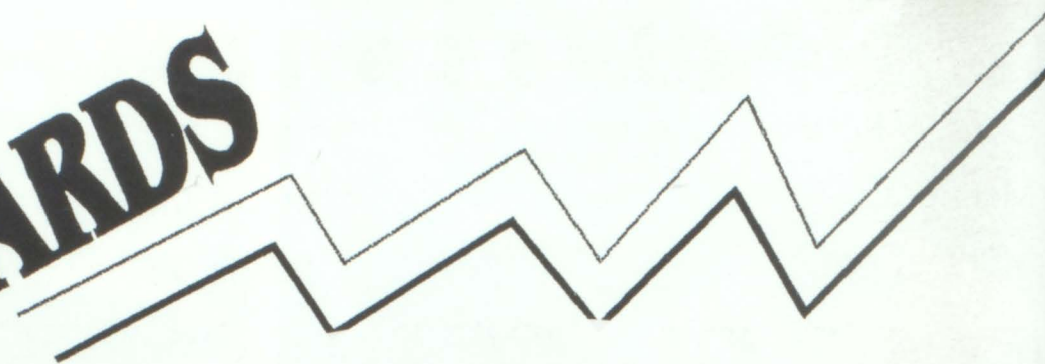

Scotus graduate Pat Englebert goes for the tackle as he did all year during his final year as a Nebraska Cornhusker.

A construction worker concentrates on transforming the junior hall into the new media center.

JUST CAN'T STA

STANDING around waiting to graduate is about the only thing that this year's senior class wasn't found doing, for the Class of 92, senior year was crammed full of games, activities, friends, work, practice, applications, scholarships, college visits, decisions and, of course, classes.

Seniors were busy from day one, beginning with planning and organizing the homecoming dance and spirit week. Seniors also had to devote a lot of their time to making decisions about the future, while still trying to keep up with all of their classes and activities.

The senior retreat was a welcome break for most of the class. It was also a chance to grow closer as a class and to get to know each other better.

As the end of the year drew nearer, seniors were busy leaving their mark as one by one their activities ended. Feelings of happiness and perhaps a little sadness were experienced as the Class of 92 made their last STAND while creating memories to last a lifetime.

A group of seniors gather to say "peace" on hippie day during spirit week.

OUT of town

CAMP S LUTHER

OUT of town and OUT of school were the seniors on Oct. 23, as they headed to Camp Luther for their senior retreat. The seniors asked Mr. Atchison, Mr. Petersen, and Mrs. Schieffer to partake in the day's activities.

The day was filled with many memorable events. As an ice-breaker, the seniors started the day with "mail call". During the rest of the day seniors watched films, played with tinker toys, went on a trust walk, and shared meals together.

Sharetime was also a very favorable part of the retreat. During this time seniors talked about leaving for college and leaving their friends and family behind.

Tears were shed, and the class developed a unique bond as each senior shared their thoughts and feelings. "I am closer to my classmates because of all the sharing we did, and I realize how special we are to each other," commented Tracy Wessel.

The day ended with mass of which Fr. Wayne was the celebrant. The seniors received letters from a teacher that they had sometime in their high school years. "The letters are something I'll always remember," Holly Hunter said.

The senior retreat was beneficial for all who participated. "I now realize how important our senior year is," stated Mike Henggeler.

Seniors gather around to sing old junior high songs. "It surprised me how the words to the songs came back to us so easily," stated Jenni Styskal.

Underclassmen

STAND

STANDING in line, the underclassmen patiently wait. High school days fly by without any warning, though you won't hear anyone complaining. They can't believe they are finally in junior high, then a freshman, sophomore, and junior waiting for their last STAND.

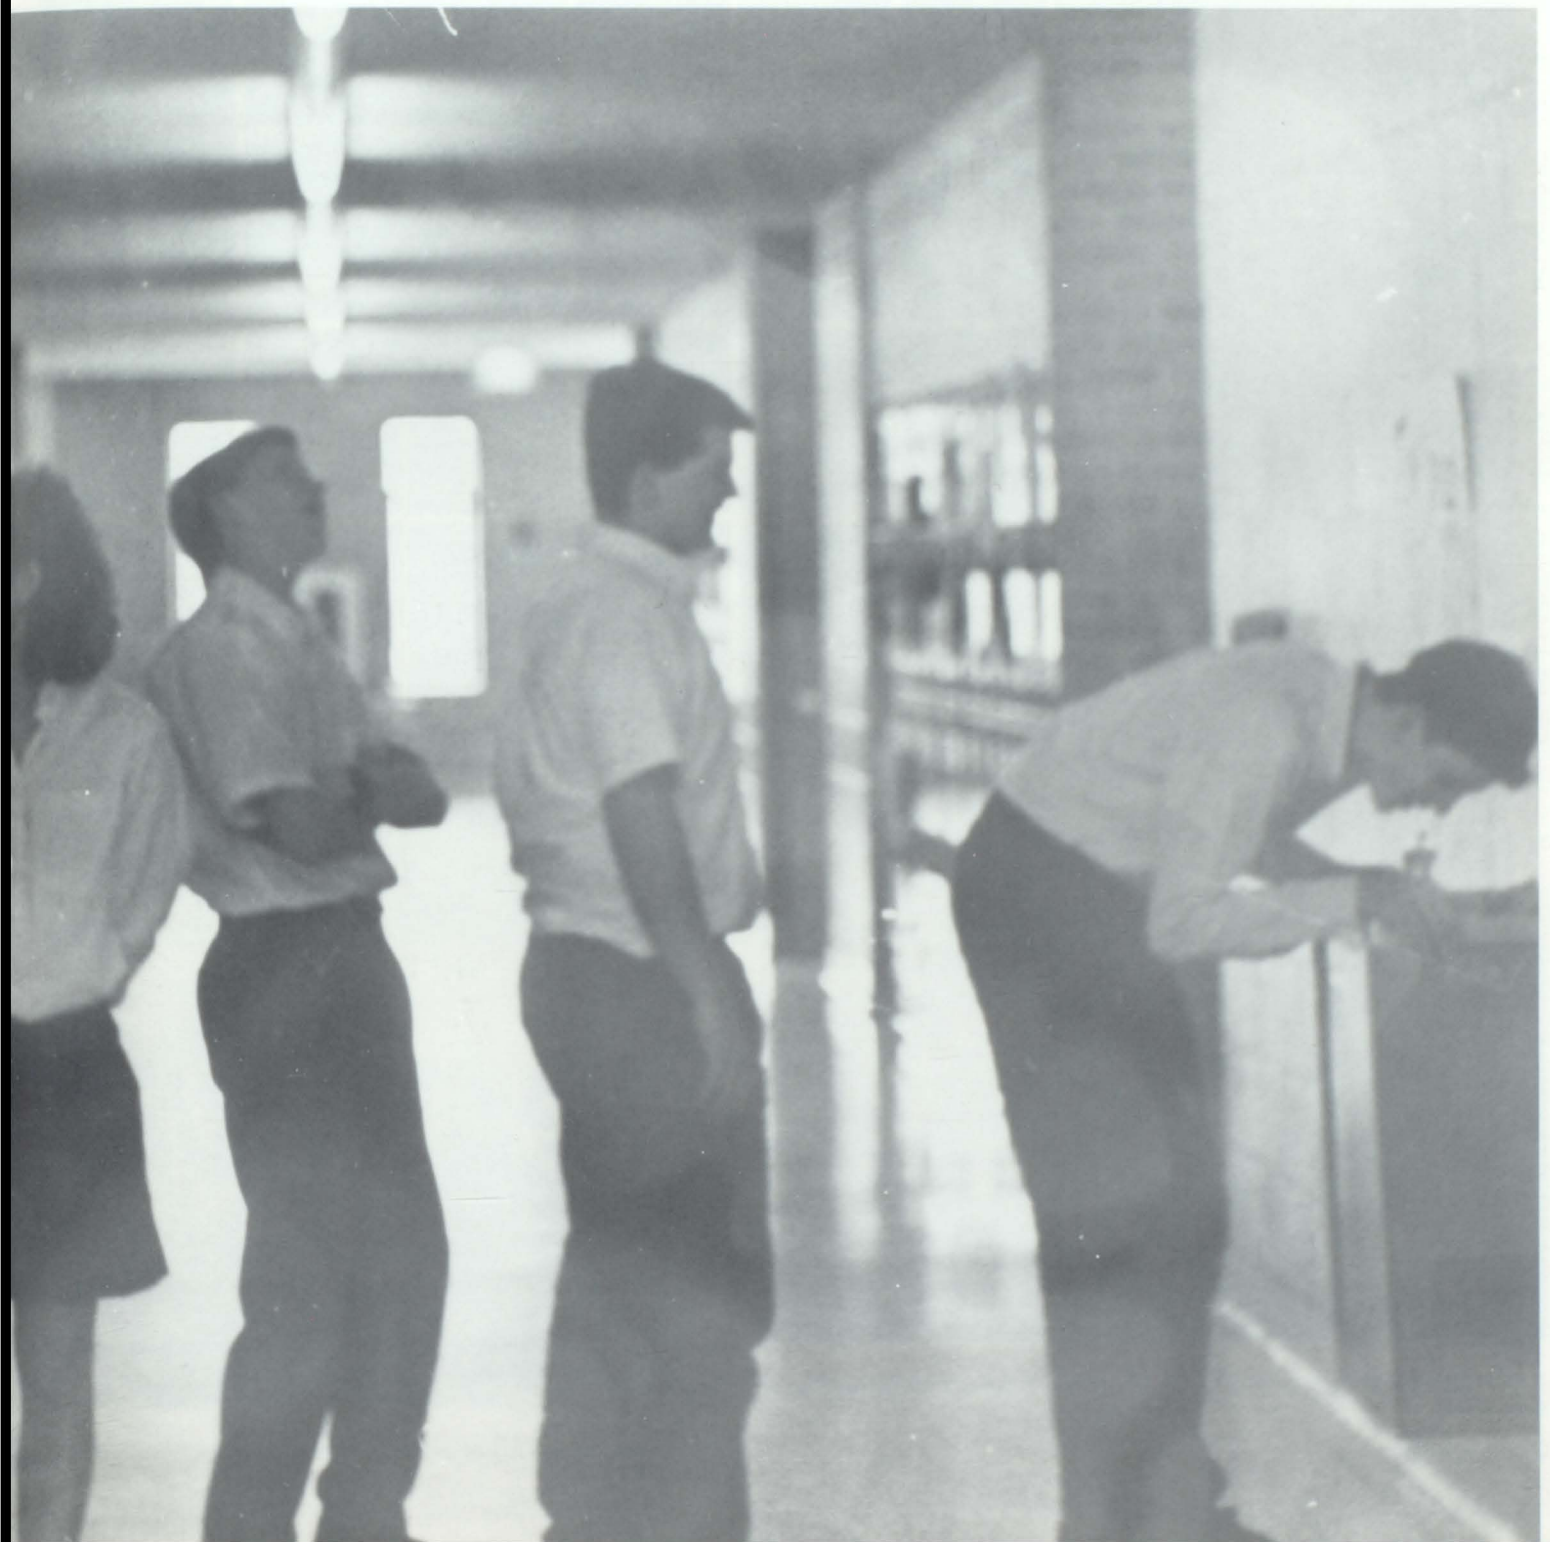

Underclassmen come to the rude awakening that as they get older, their classes get harder. As they say, with age comes responsibility, and the older students would agree. Sophomores and juniors take their first steps towards their futures by taking electives and the ever important standardized tests.

However, the underclassmen don't spend all of their time with their noses in their books. They participate in all the activities offered at Scotus, from Campus Ministry to soccer. They help with concessions, concerts, and organize the Sweetheart dance and Prom. The underclassmen have taken a STAND by achieving excellence in academics and athletic areas, and deserve a STANDING ovation.

"Just two more years." That's a phrase that commonly runs through the minds of the juniors. Between studying, preparing for ACTS, and playing sports, it would seem that the junior class would have little time to spend having fun. Not! Their weekends are spent going to parties, driving around, and doing their best to get home as late as possible. There are signs of hope for America, with evidence of future doctors, lawyers, actresses, rockstars, and other members of the labor force.

For now, the junior class is STANDING by to become seniors, graduate, go to college, and get on the long road to success.

We wish them lots of luck!

Besides studying, the sophomore class also spends a lot of their time OUT and about, making good use of recently received drivers' licenses. Although those activities take up a lot of their time, now that they are 16 and old enough to join the labor force, many sophomores also spend time looking for jobs or working.

Work is time consuming, but it gives them extra spending money for gas, clothes, movies, etc. Being OUT and about so much, it's a wonder they find time to do homework.

Life is getting OUT of control, as the class of '95 joins the senior high. Going from junior to senior high can be a tough transition, but the freshmen class seems to be handling it well.

There are some advantages to being in ninth grade, for instance; you get a bigger locker and an entire hallway to yourself. On the other hand, there are also some disadvantages: you have four more years of school to go, you're once again the "little guys", and you have to write a term paper for the first time in your life.

Whatever the pros and cons may be, the freshmen class seems to be adjusting well, even if once in a while they do get a little OUT of control.

Now experts at the junior high routine, the eighth grade is STANDING tall as the "big guys". Now that they've adjusted to the changes, the eighth grade class can sit back, relax, and look forward to bigger and better things, mainly high school. There are also new challenges in the future. For example: doing a play in Miss George's drama class—that's an experience no one ever forgets.

For now, the class of '96 will continue to STAND tall and survive junior high.

Eighth graders Bobby Happ and James Held discuss their OUTstanding study habits.

Making the transition from elementary school to junior high can be tough, but there are pluses to it also. You're finally out of elementary school, you'll soon be a teenager, and you make a lot of new friends. There are also some things you have to adjust to: different teachers for every class instead of one teacher for different classes, lockers instead of desks, and activity period instead of recess three times a day.

As the seventh graders adjust and learn, they also STAND in line on their way to becoming seniors.

Matt Walters OUT does himself in the smiling department.

Miss Felger and Mr. Sadle STAND by each other.

1992 marks the end of an era- Mr. Sadle leaves Scotus. After teaching here for 7 years, "Papa" has decided to leave. He's going to sell his house and move to the country, where he'll spend his time fishing and doing blue-collar work. When asked for parting words, Papa stated, "It's been a trip. My teaching experience has been one of the most rewarding and fulfilling periods of my life. I will miss the students."

For those students who never had the chance to take a class with him, you've missed out on one of the best teachers this school ever had. We'll miss you Papa!

If the words "Hola" and "Buenos Dias" are in your vocabulary for at least one period every day, you're obviously in Spanish with Miss Felger. Unfortunately no one even saw her until the second quarter this year. As most of us know, Miss Felger spent the first quarter recovering from surgery, both in the hospital and at home. After much student speculation, she returned to the sounds of "Welcome back" ringing in her ears. Welcome back Miss Felger! There are, of course, many other members of the faculty that STAND OUT. They all draw the students' attention by their unique personalities and teaching methods.

Many of the teachers do more than teach a particular subject. In fact, most of the teachers are either coaches or advisors of a certain extracurricular activity. Doing all that, plus planning classes, grading papers, etc. takes up most of their free time. We are grateful for all their efforts and hope they continue to STAND OUT.

Academics SETS T

STANDARDized tests are only a few of the obstacles Scotus students hurdled this year on the path to academic greatness. New classes and new teachers posed new challenges to students as they survived yet another year of learning within the green halls that we call home.

This year Scotus students once again had the opportunity to receive college credits by taking advanced placement classes in English, science, math and social studies. Students also had many electives to choose from to fill the spaces left in their schedules of required classes. These classes ranged from physical education to fine arts. Once again, students and teachers at Scotus strove to be the best and proved that academics at Scotus set the STANDARD.

During her independent office procedures class, Lori Sypal practices filing.

Keyboarding, marketing, and accounting classes give students a first-hand look at how acquiring special skills in high school can be a big help in landing summer jobs or full-time jobs after high school.

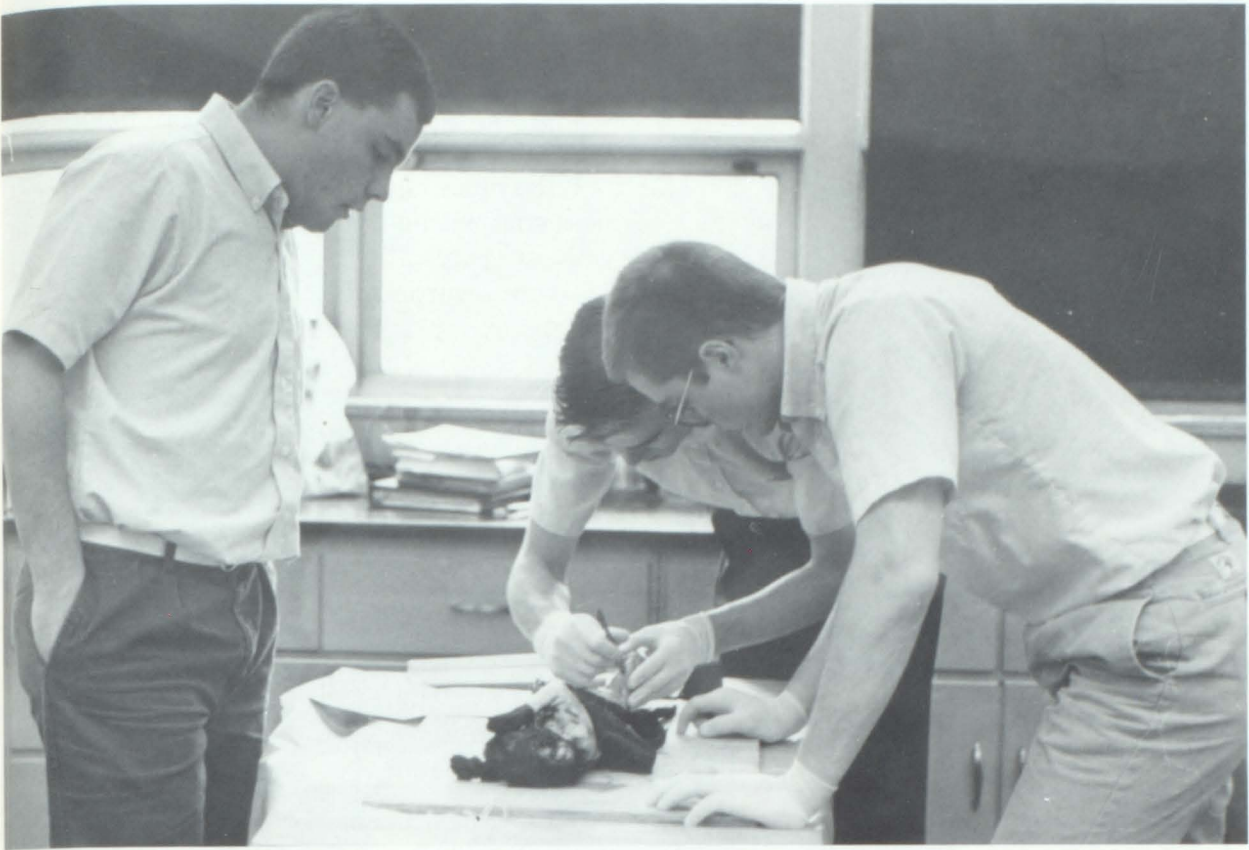

On March 11, the business department hosted the annual local business competition day at Scotus. Students from 11 area schools competed in various business-related events. Points were awarded for those placing first, second, and third, and a plaque was given to the school with the highest overall points. Scotus won the competition.

Jason Citta and Craig Foreman assist Michael Collins in deciphering which one of "Scruffy's" internal organs they are looking at during physiology class.

"Every day is special!" was Mr. Tom Leininger's description of his science classes. Aside from the hard work and numerous homework assignments, many students also enjoy his sense of humor and strange antics.

"I felt it would help me in my future career as an engineer," said chemistry and physics student Jamie Happ.

"I'm doing better in physics than I expected," explained Steve Jarecki, "but on Tuesdays and Thursdays we could use some pillows because it gets a little long."

Throughout the year, the English, Spanish and German classes were involved in many activities.

The English 11 classes once again worked on a poetry unit this year. "This unit is a favorite among the students," commented English teacher Mrs. Jeanne Schieffer.

The Spanish classes do many interesting activities such as making Christmas cards for teachers, playing Spanish bingo and teaching Spanish to kindergarten classes.

Karte, German bingo, teaching German to grade schoolers and making donuts and pretzels are only a few of the activities that the German classes were involved in this year.

So whether students travel to Germany or Spain, they will be able to communicate with their foreign friends.

Seventh grade Spanish students, Chip Kaup and Joe Niedbalski suffer through the results of their unstudied vocabulary.

Courtney Nozal and Erin Trouba work in a group figuring geometric problems during Mr. Peterson's class.

2,  $(8 \times 2) + y = 0$ . Math students not only have to face normal high school problems, but they have to work with problems like this everyday also. In Mr. Lahm's Algebra classes, they do one extra problem each week that is designed to introduce a topic that will be useful to them in the future.

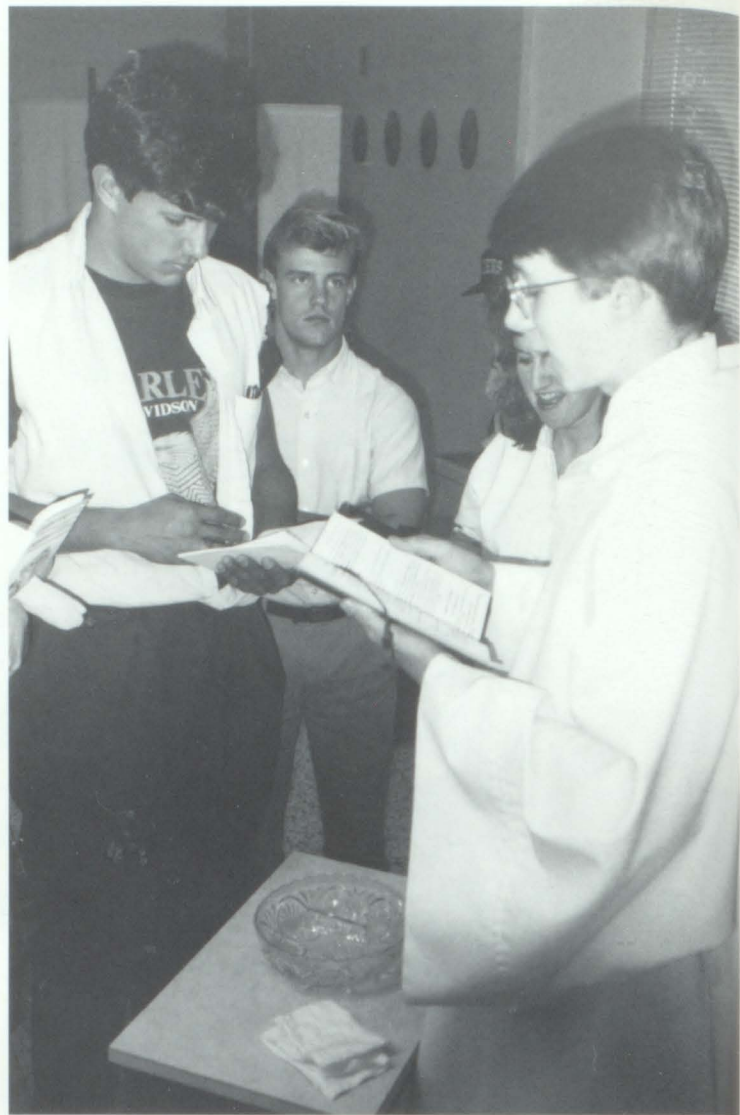

Mathematics isn't the only area where problems are analyzed though. Social Studies classes study the world's economic problems. Everything from important dates in history to domestic problems are reviewed. Students in geography work on maps while Modern Problems classes study divorce rates and drug issues.

The senior religion classes prepare students for the "real world" by doing marriage simulations. Students are challenged with activities that they will most likely face in their future such as pricing furniture, food, and apartments, designing a budget and planning a wedding.

Drama II students, Sarah Wemhoff and Jeff Loseke, take their quarter final by applying make-up to make themselves look old.

Brad Wangler opens his mouth to find skin lines to mark for the make-up unit in Drama II.

Paper mache' palm trees, clay bowls and "The Window" were all works of art created by the Fine Arts classes this year. The Fine Arts department includes several different types of classes ranging from art to drama, leaving students with several possibilities to earn their fine art credits.

This year the Art department displayed some of their pieces at the Art Gallery in March for "Youth Art Appreciation Month." They also put displays in the Home Ec windows and in the office.

Mrs. Kiser gives the opportunity for talented students to take independent art classes. This gives students a chance to express their feelings in many different ways. "I wanted a chance to express myself in whatever way I deemed necessary without the directions of someone else," said senior Shawn Diederich.

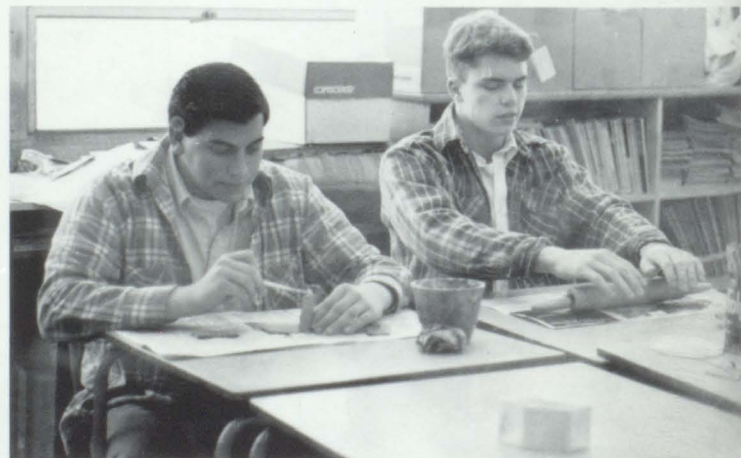

Other ways students like to express themselves is through music classes. Mr. Roberts practices with three music groups: Girls Glee, Concert Choir, and Swing Choir. All three of these groups join together to put on a fall and a spring concert. They spend many hours practicing and preparing for the big nights. "Mr. Roberts has introduced a variety of new songs this year," said senior Tracy Wessel.

Many students dread the required semester of Speech I because the class is compiled of many hours of homework. They struggle through many embarrassing moments in front of the class, while they tug at their clothes and turn completely red. The select few who enjoy this move on to Speech II or Drama classes. "These classes will help me in later life, when I become a priest, to make my homilies more interesting," said senior Jeff Loseke.

For the past few years, Scotus students have been starting early with their acting careers. Ms. George's eighth grade drama classes presented a total of eight plays this year. "All of the students show tremendous growth by the time they are ready to present their plays," stated Ms. George. By performing these plays, students are being prepared for high school fine art classes.

Christi Wachal, Bill Kretz, Becky Drum, and Kristie Puetz take a short break from singing during Concert Choir.

PHYSICAL EDUCATION

"S howering stinks!" was a popular reply of students when asked about their opinions of P. E. class. "Pain and torture, which consists of a constant ten minute run, is the worst, weights is cool, so is track and field." This was the compiled opinion of Michelle Gablenz, Laniece Micek, Megan Zoch, and Jodi Eikmeier, four girls in the seventh grade P. E. class.

"I like all the different activities that we do, like the dances, and I don't think we should have to run the mile twice a year," said freshman Carey Grell.

Some of the more interesting activities that the freshman and sophomore classes participate in are the creative dances. The students were to choose a song and include certain formations, movements, and qualities in their dance. Videotapes were made of their performances so other classes could view each other's creations.

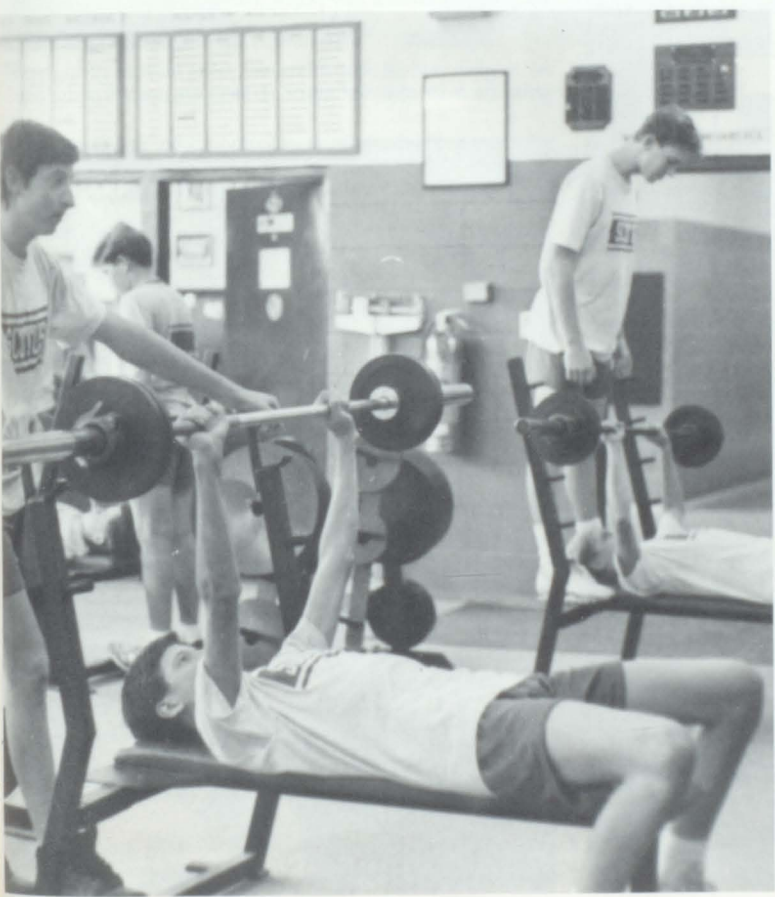

"A lot of people view these as 'pud' classes, when in reality, they are important in preparing kids for handling themselves in the real world," said P. E. teacher Mrs. Tooley. "I took Advanced P. E. because other seniors I talked to liked it, and it turned out to be a lot of fun," replied senior Matt Naughtin.

Demetria Wade uses her spare time to type her term paper for AP English.

Seniors Shane Pelster and Mike Henggeler make use of the new media center to read a magazine.

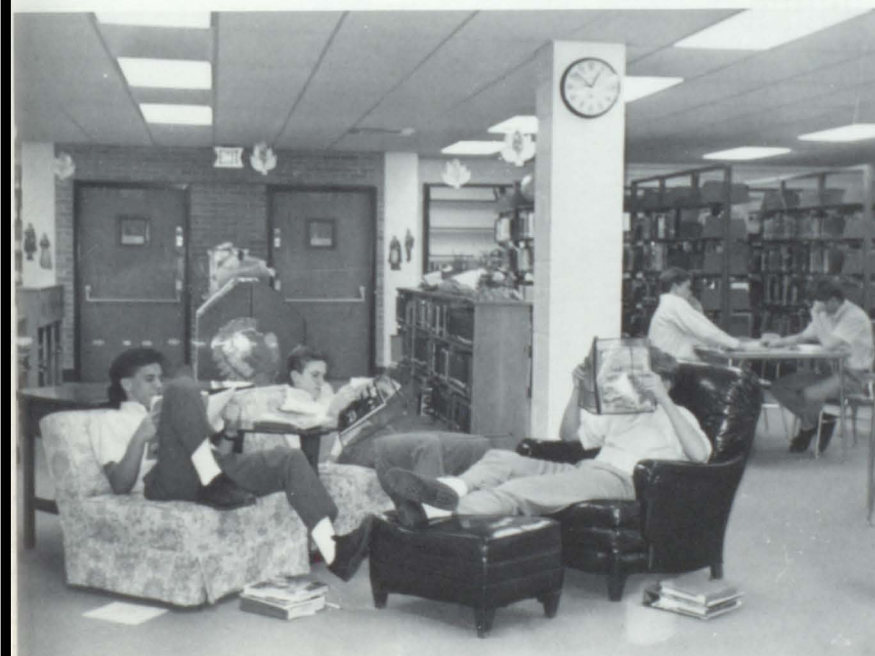

Freshman girls do some last minute cramming before school starts.

Every Scotus student has their own personal method of studying. Whether that may mean complete silence, with a radio, or not at all, they have their own requirements that must be met for them to be able to study properly.

When students were asked how much they study, some replied "At least an hour or two a night." The answers differed with the classes that each student had. Those with math classes seemed to spend more time studying than those with P.E. classes. But whether their time spent studying is adequate or not is usually determined by those much dreaded report cards that are received after each quarter.

Nikki Beran, Bridget Held, and Laura Hightower study during English.

Jason Feldhaus, Matt McGuire and Andy Sueper take a break from studying to read the latest Hot Wheels magazine.

Organizations

TOGETHER

Taking a STAND in various organizations is the one thing that Scotus students do a lot. This year, students were active in many different extracurricular groups, from Campus Ministry to S Club- and we do mean active. It was a busy year for most school groups, with conferences, workshops, competitions, camps, concerts and, most popular with many organizations, fundraising. Dedicated student members sold everything from gift wrap to pizzas.

Most organizations at Scotus are open to students from all four grades. This allows underclassmen a chance to become more involved in their school and the opportunity to meet new people. Organizations also give upperclassmen the ability to take on leadership roles and to set examples for younger students.

Organizations provide something for everyone and give students a chance to explore their interests and find their strengths, leaving little time to STAND around.

Campus ministers STAND together to collect cans of food, gather warm coats, and grow food to help the community. They do many generous activities throughout the year that are very helpful to those in need.

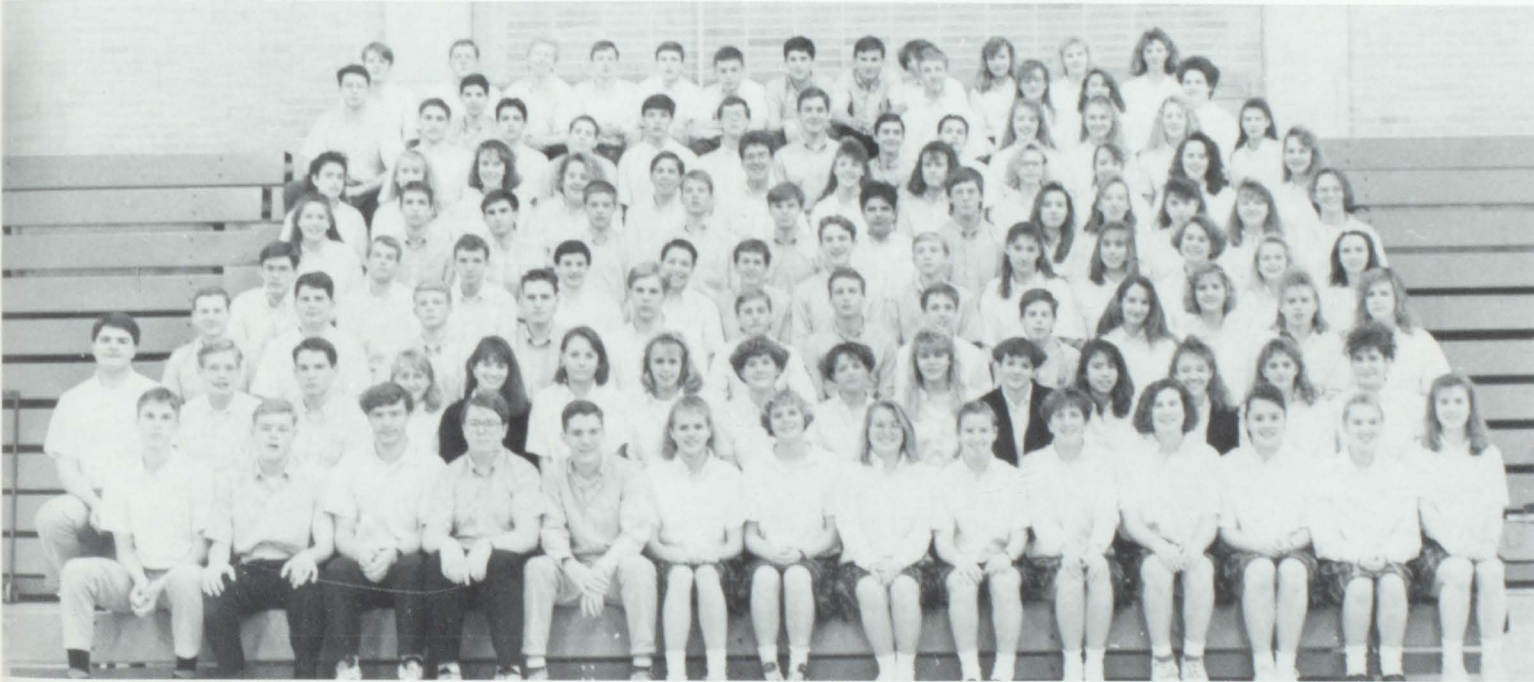

All summer long, the E. M. E.'s along with other campus ministry members, work hard pulling weeds and tilling the land in hope for a plentiful harvest. E. M. E. Kerry Robak remembers "Shawn Diederich, Jason Feldhaus and I took cucumbers to the senior citizen center. It gave me a feeling of accomplishment knowing that we grew them with our own hands and used them to help the hungry." Other campus ministers felt the same way about the hard work and time that they put into working at the garden all summer.

This year Campus Ministry conducted two drives for the needy. They had a canned food drive which brought in a little over 2100 cans of food. The food was donated to the Columbus Food Pantry. After the canned food drive, they began collecting coats for the homeless. A total of 170 coats were shared with those less fortunate.

Several fundraisers were held throughout the year including a pancake feed, fish fry, and a tape dance. The money raised at these events was used toward improving our community. Many campus ministers volunteered to help with these fund raisers and were awarded by the good feelings they got through seeing their generosity put to good use.

*Eighth period ended, the SCHOOLbell rang
I walked out the door, as I HAPPILY sang.
I talked to my FRIENDS, then got in my CAR,
And then I drove HOME, which wasn't too far.
I walked in the door, and watched some T.V.
I went to MY ROOM, and played a CD,
Then I had supper with MOM and DAD,
And we thanked the Lord for the FOOD we had.*

Then we all sat down in the living room and watched the news and saw people STARVING out on the streets, CRYING, people living in CARDBOARD BOXES, with RAGGEDY CLOTHES and TEARS in their eyes, SUFFERING.

On that day I received the spirit of GIVING.

I began giving others a chance of LIVING

I gathered up food, and gave to the poor.

I opened my heart, and opened the door.

I collected some blankets, coats, and such,

And gave just as God has given so much.

For we have the extras, and they are in need.

Let God be my sower, and I'll be the seed.

STANDING UP

The student council finally got their foot in the door this year and are working for more privileges for students. They met with the administration for the first time. The purpose of this meeting was to express to the administration the feelings of the students and to give their ideas on how to improve student self esteem and student-teacher relations. At this meeting they also discussed more privileges for the seniors, (in order to receive more than just a senior parking row-WOW!).

The junior and senior Scotus Mock Trial teams competed against each other for the first time at a district meet this year. The seniors defeated the juniors, won districts, and went on to win regionals over Wahoo. From there they went to state and placed third. We second the congratulations to the senior mock trial team!

OUT of their minds is one thing the thespian troop 1909 was accused of being again this year, especially during the most important five days of the year for the thespians, initiation week. This year the troop held initiation in February using the Addams Family as the theme. Eleven lucky (unlucky?) candidates went through the week long initiation, which included everything from testing the initiates acting ability to their memory skills.

The thespians participated in other activities during the year, also. Once again they entered the VFW Voice of America speech contest. Winners were; Jenni O'Neill, first place, Jenna Mullin, second place, and Dan McGrane, third place.

The thespians also went on a field trip this year during April. The troop went to the Firehouse Dinner Theatre to see the play "Barefoot in the Park."

Thespians officers are, sponsor Mrs. Sandie Bernt, vice president Holly Hunter, president Jeff Loseke, secretary/treasurer Sarah Wemhoff and historian/reporter Lori Sypal.

STANDING OVATION

STANDING in front of large audiences is just one part of public speaking. This is just one of the many things the members of the speech team learn how to do on the road to being excellent public speakers. Every year the SCC Speakers practice diligently for their many competitions at various meets, hoping to bring home individual medals as well as the team trophy. This year was no exception. The team had one of its most successfully seasons ever, winning several meets and achieving their goal of bringing home the conference trophy. They also won the coveted district crown and placed fourth in the Class B State Speech Meet, sending ten qualifiers who brought home many awards. State medalists were; Jeff Loseke, second, entertainment, Ryan Eikmeier, fourth, persuasive, Holly Hunter, Demetria Wade, Lori Sypal, Brad Wangler and Jeff Loseke, fifth, group drama, and Holly Hunter and Sarah Wemhoff, sixth, duet acting.

Sports

STAND

STANDards of excellence were met again this year by the many athletic teams at SCC. For many years Scotus has been recognized for its outstanding sports program, and this year was no different, with one exception. This year girls and boys soccer were added as new spring sports for Scotus students to participate in. Many students went out for the new sport, and both teams had successful seasons for being such young programs, proving that the decision of the school board to add them was a good one.

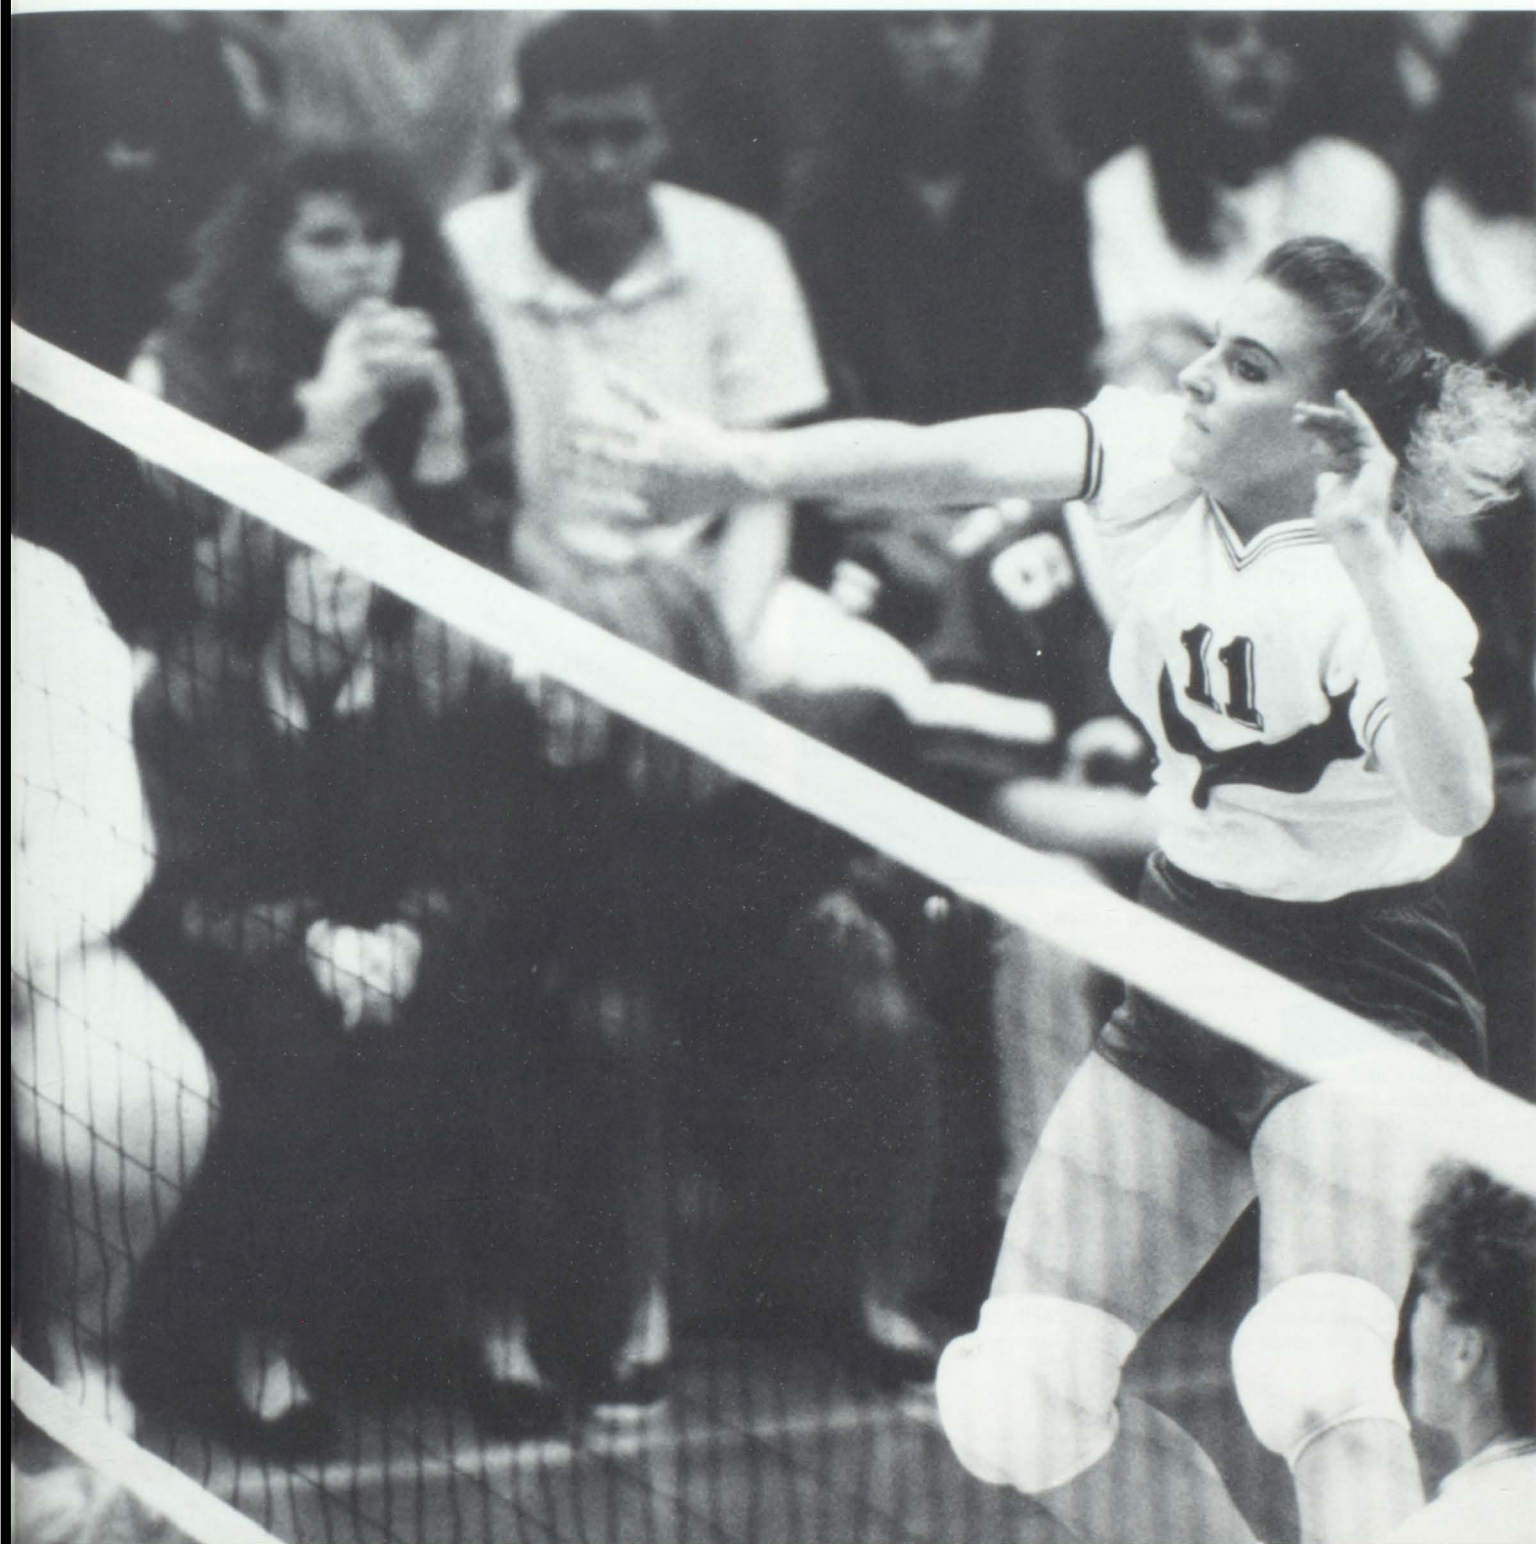

All other traditional programs also had successful seasons. Some made repeat trips to their state tournaments, like the volleyball and girls cross country teams, or had their most successful seasons thus far.

All of the sports teams had reason to STAND tall once again, regardless of their win-loss records. As they say, it's not whether you win or lose, it's how you play the game.

Standing high above the rest, Jenni Styskal spikes the ball over the outstretched hands of a defender.

Team Captains for 1991-92, Mike Henggeler, Matt Naughtin, and Craig Foreman, encouraged their teammates to increase their standards and helped the players remain a close-knit team throughout the year.

Sophomore Scott Sobota makes a tackle against Battle Creek, one of the top ranked teams of this year's season. The game that was most exciting for the Shamrocks was that against Lakeview. The overtime win against the cross-town rivalry gave the Shamrocks the momentum they needed for the rest of the year.

Schuyler's Shane Stouffer barely eludes senior Matt Naughtin's tackle during the first home game for the Shamrocks. Although this third loss of 20-12 at the beginning of the season dampened the hopes of the home players, the Shamrocks came back at the end of the season with a four-win, four-loss record. Scotus played such top-ranked teams as Roncalli, Mt. Michael, Battle Creek and Wahoo Neumann. The team remained tough during the season and found the team masses before each game unified the team. Unity of the team also came after the pre-game practices when the team would go to the "sacred burning ground" where, according to junior Jeremy Boncynski, "the team would burn articles representing [their] opponents." After each game won, the team would chant, "We came; we saw; we kicked some!" to let the other team know they had better not STAND in the way of the Shamrock machine.

"Bolt!" "Bolt!" "I am Woman, I am strong!" This expression could be heard wherever the girls' 1991 cross country team traveled. The team had a record breaking season and broke all the standards. They finished the season with a 2nd place team finish at state. Scotus has never placed this high in the 11 year history.

Only three people from Scotus have ever medaled at state. There are Holly Hunter, Erin Trouba, and Amy Held. Hunter medaled for the second time during the 1991 season. All three were on the 1991 team and helped to make the team successful.

Close unity of the team seemed to be another key reason for success. Sing-a-longs, van chanting, "Railroad" crossings, Dairy Queen visits, K & P slamfest, and Helen Reddy worshipping were daily rituals for the close knit team.

A final note would have to go to Coach Dan Mahoney. Coach Mahoney has coached for over 11 years. Michelle Grismen, freshman, stated, "He's a great coach! He cares about his team and wants each person to succeed. This success may be through cross country or as an individual."

Varsity members: Clockwise: Holly Hunter, Jenny Fremarek, Erin Trouba, Michelle Greisman, Mandi Guernsey, Amy Held, Laura Kosch are pumpkin bound before districts.

"I found out we got second when I was talking to an Aquinas runner and Mr. Mahoney came running behind me and hit me with his clipboard while yelling 2nd, 2nd, 2nd," said senior Amy Held.

"Great finish to a great year," said Coach Dan Mahoney.

OUT RUNNING! BOYS' CC

The 1991 Boys' Cross Country team kept striding and improving throughout the entire season. The young team gained valuable experience in each meet. They constantly strove for their personal bests and sought improvement. Eric Hash ran the number one spot all year long. His attitude toward cross country was one of the main reasons for his success. Hash explained, "The only way that we can succeed is if we work hard." Other varsity members who shared Hash's attitude were: Shawn Diederich, Jim Springer, Steve Shonka, Richard Tooley, Ryan Heimes, and Jeremy Kretz. The senior leadership was displayed by Shawn Diederich, Luisma Garcia Tobaruela, and Steve Jarecki. The junior varsity team improved tremendously and kept striding for success. The young group looks forward to an OUTstanding team next year.

STANDING still was one of the things that the girls' golf team didn't do much of this year. Although their season was short, they had a busy schedule and a lot of work to do. With only one returning varsity player, the competition for the top five spots was fierce, but helped to make all the girls better golfers.

The girl golfers also achieved many things this year. The team invite record was broken and everyone on the varsity team medaled at least once individually. The team also beat cross-town rival Lakeview twice, once at an invite and once in a dual.

Not only was it a successful golf season, but also a fun one. "We experienced a lot this year and had tons of fun doing it," said junior golfer Amy Tubbs. Jenna Mullin, the only senior golfer, had this to say about the team, "I'm going to miss the golf team and all of the unity we established throughout the season."

The 1991-1992 Lady Shamrocks ended their season with a 13-8 record. Although their season may have ended sooner than they may had planned, they gave it their best STAND. ThroughOUT their season they showed their competitiveness as a team.

The Lady Rocks took a STAND against a lot of their competition. The Rocks showed this in their season by placing second at the Holiday Tournament and second at the NCC Conference Tournament.

The 1991-1992 Girls' Basketball team was led by two seniors, Tracy Wessel and Brenda Sliva. The team was also aided by many competitive underclassmen. These young athletes will surely STAND OUT next year.

The 1991-1992 basketball season was full of ups and downs, with heartbreaks and losses. The Shamrocks ended their season with a record of 3-16. "We had a better team than the record showed, and we didn't get many breaks all season," said senior Jeff Tooley.

One of the "downunder" disappointments came when junior Michael Collins wasn't able to play until the second half of the year. Since Collins was a new student at Scotus this year, he wasn't able to participate in a varsity sport for 90 days.

Passing through the problems of the season, three of our many OUTSTANDING players received honors. Senior Jeff Tooley received All-City and 1st team All Conference. The 1991-1992 Girl's Track Team stood up to their STANDARDS this year with one state champion relay and other medalists. This year the sport of track had to compete with a new sport at Scotus, soccer, but even with the competition, it stood out and finished the season well and hard.

The 1991-1992 400m relay finished with their best time and a time good enough to reach first place at the state track meet. The relay team consisted of Jamie Jaswick, Tammy Gablenz, Keri Stopak, and Laura Liss, while others competed in long jump, 100m, 200m, 800m, 1 mile, 2 mile, and 320m relay. All in all everyone competed to their fullest which once again showed how Scotus STANDS OUT.

Junior Keri Stopak finishes the last leg of the 400m relay. The relay team went on to receive the gold at the 1991-1992 State Track Meet.

The 1991-1992 Boy's Track showed off their talents throughout the year. The boy's track team worked hard all year long to improve their talents and meet their goals. All of this paid off though at the end of the year at the 1991-1992 State Track meet.

Five of our top competitors made it to state to show off their talents. They competed in the 300 intermediate hurdles, 400m run, 800m run, 110 high hurdles, mile, and shotput. Many of the hard working hours and long hours of pain paid off in the end. All in all it was a good season, and everyone put in their best efforts.

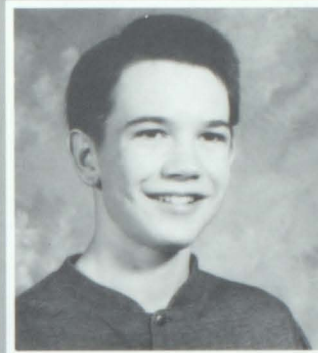

Junior Jesse Kosch strives to reach the end and finish the relay hard.

BOYS' GOLF STAND AND SWING

Improvement seemed to be the key of the 1992 Boy's Golf team. The team consistently improved their scores. In almost every meet, the team scored higher than they had in previous years. There were more medals given out throughout the year than ever before. The highlight of the year had to be winning Conference. Scotus beat out five teams and edged out St. Alberts by one stroke. Scotus has never won Conference before this year. The young team consisted of only three seniors. The seniors were: Jeff Micek, Jason Stephan, and Brett Dallman.

The team looks forward to an even more competitive season next year. With added experience and knowledge, Scotus looks for more success.

The 1991-1992 Scotus Central Catholic Boys Soccer Team competed to their fullest ability this year. Although the team was mostly made up of underclassmen, the team as a whole showed great power. They dribbled their way to the semi-finals in district tournaments. The positive attitudes lead the Shamrocks to a victory in the first round of the district tournaments. Soccer, being a first year sport, became a very popular and successful sport.

"Since Columbus has played a lot of club and AYSO soccer, it helped us as a high school team," sophomore Ryan Medinger said. This was very true. The sport of soccer has been played for many years in the town of Columbus which affects the way we played as a high school team. Most of the players on the team had played before which showed by ending the season with an 8 and 7 record.

"The team was young which will help next year," sophomore Jason Mielak said. Next year we will have many returning starters along with many good players. All in all the Scotus Boys Soccer Team will return next year to be even better than this year.

Controversy surrounded soccer from the beginning. The question seemed to be: where to have it, who could coach it, and if we could have it at all. Eventually after a great deal of discussion, Scotus developed its first year of soccer.

The 1992 Girls' Soccer team kept a fighting attitude throughout their season. The team started the year with an eleven in-a-row winning streak. Talent and club experience propelled the team to a total of twelve wins. JoDe Cieloha stated, "Our original goal was to have a winning season." The team shattered this goal.

One of the team's biggest achievements was beating 9th ranked Omaha Roncalli in overtime. This proved the team could compete against more competitive teams. Scotus's final loss came to Columbus High in the district finals. Columbus, however, went on to receive 3rd place at State.

The team is looking forward to an even more OUTstanding season next year. Suszi Kudron explained, "We would like to beat the teams we lost to this year." The young team is off to a great start, and it looks as if soccer is here to stay!

JoAnn Speicher, Brea Kudron, Wendy Mueller, Jennifer Braun, Heidi Staroscik, Stacy Borer, and manager Kerri Fritz attentively watch the close St. Albert's game.

Suszi Kudron, junior, quickly dribbles the ball down the field as freshman, Brandi Bulkley, sprints for the pass. Suszi Kudron was voted Most Valuable Player by her teammates and coaches.

Sunny Recek, sophomore, shows off her lack of fear as she literally faces the ball. Scotus lost the St. Albert's game by a close margin of 3-1. Recek had the most goals of the team for the season.

Freshmen, Brandi Bulkley and Chandra Legenza, mentally and physically prepare for their upcoming game by eating a variety of their favorite health foods.

Senior, Kristen Haenggi, stated, "This year was a great learning experience. It was great to finally have soccer at Scotus."

Dances and Special Events

DON'T

JUST

STANDING still was one thing that Scotus students had no excuse for doing this year. Aside from all of the everyday classes and sporting events, there were many special events for students to participate in.

This year students had ample opportunities to trip the light fantastic at numerous school dances. This year the Scotus student council teamed with Lakeview to hold a back to school dance with a live band, Street Legal. Of course there were also all of the traditional dances, beginning with homecoming and spirit week in October, sweetheart in February, and prom in April. Throughout the year various groups also held tape dances to raise money and provide students with something to do on the weekends.

Along with the numerous dances, there were also many special events that kept students busy. This year Scotus students participated in school plays, award banquets and even a trip to Washington. As you can see, 1991-92 was another year full of activities, events and a lot of fun, leaving students with very little time for STANDING around.

STANDING out on the dance floor, seniors Toby Ketter and Paula Welsh cut a rug at the Scotus-Lakeview Back-to-School dance.

OUT OF UNIFORM

The week of Homecoming is always looked forward to by students. "It's so fun to dress up in the different costumes for the week", said senior Steve Jarecki. Homecoming week started with "Unique Day" on Monday, in which students added crazy accessories to make themselves STAND OUT. Tuesday was OUT of uniform "Hippie Day", costumes varied from tie-dyes to headbands to bellbottoms. "Hippie Day was the best day, cause everyone looked so hilarious in the strange clothes," said sophomore Kim Codling. On Wednesday, students dressed as grandmas and grandpas, and Thursday everyone wore black for "Black Day". Finally the week ended with the traditional "Spirit Day" on Friday the day of the dance!

MONDAY: OUT of the ordinary

Senior Holly Hunter dares to be different and definitely STANDS OUT on Unique Day.

Shawn Diederich shows his participation in Hippie Day and expresses his famous quote "peace, love and brotherhood."

All Aboard ... The Nighthtrain

Fun, friends and dancin' are just a few of the things Scotus students were expecting before they boarded the "Nighthtrain" on Friday, October 18, 1991. Upon arriving at the Memorial Hall, students entered the cafeteria through a tunnel and followed railroad tracks to the dance floor. The music for the dance was provided by "Ultra Sound" and enjoyed by most students. Junior Beth Honke said "the good music is what made the dance so fun." The theme "Nighthtrain" was chosen by the seniors who were responsible for putting on and decorating the dance. Senior Shane Pelster said the theme was chosen, because "it brought back memories from the summer when we had fun and partied as a class."

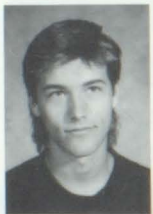

What do you think stood OUT the most at the dance?

"Just that everyone seemed to have a great time." - Eileen Dobesh

What do you think stood OUT at the dance?

"Everything, the whole night stands out." - Mike Shotkoski

As a senior, how do you feel about this being your last Homecoming?

"Well, I probably won't miss 'em, but I guess they were all pretty fun." -

Jeff Micek

As a freshman, what did you think of your first Homecoming?

"It wasn't really what I expected, but it ended up a pretty fun night." -

NO STANDING STREET AROUND ... with LEGAL!

Throughout the year, different school organizations sponsor tape dances for students. These give students a chance to get together not only as friends, but as a school to have fun and dance. "They're fun, and it gives you something to do besides drive around," sophomore Tabitha Peterson said. Other students had other reasons for going to tape dances. "I like the festive atmosphere of a tape dance," said Tim Thalkin. "I go to tape dances to hit on the babes," said junior Justin Guernsey.

Some students also had reasons for not attending tape dances. "I usually have to work or I'm with my girlfriend," said senior Shane Wemhoff. "I stopped going to tape dances because Justin was always hitting on me," junior Candi Mustard said.

"ST. ELMO'S FIRE" ... BURNS THROUGHOUT THE NIGHT!

The snowy weather wasn't going to stop students from having a good time on February 14, also the date of Sweetheart '92. "I thought the snow was going to make the night crappy but Micek and I had a great time on our double date," senior Craig Foreman said. The students lit up "St. Elmo's Fire" and let it burn throughOUT the night. The royal court of the dance were King Shane Pelster, Queen Tara Boesch, Jeff Micek, Paula Welsh, Amy Kroenke, Brett Dallman, Jason Citta, Jenni Styskal, Craig Foreman, Bridget O'Hearn, Scott Harmeier and Kerry Robak.

The Sweetheart Dance of 1992 was an exciting time for everyone inside, despite the weather OUT-side.

Acting Out in 3's

The students at Scotus Central Catholic put on three one act plays on November 7. The plays were "The Window", "Infancy", and "Strawberry Jam."

Junior Brad Wangler, who was in "The Window" and "Infancy," was glad he was in the plays because, "it will help me if I become a cop and have to act in an undercover sting operation." The play "Infancy" "was a miscommunication between babies and adults," said senior Lori Sypal.

"Strawberry Jam," was about two English ladies that froze their father so they wouldn't have to pay the death duty.

All casts practiced every other day from 4-5, and the end result was satisfying. "We were proud of what we accomplished," said senior Sarah Wemhoff, who portrayed Hester in "Strawberry Jam" and Miss Manifest in "The Window."

All of the characters in "The Window" were elements of nature. Senior Terra Wondercheck, who played the rose "bush" said, "considering how hard 'The Window' was we did really well.

"Miss Manifest," Sarah Wemhoff, rides on the back of "the man," Jeff Loseke in order to reach the window and get through life. The elements watch in amusement.

"Wind," (Jenna Mullin), "Water," (Holly Hunter), and "The Window," (Jenny Fremarek) mock "Miss Manifest," (Sarah Wemhoff) in the presentation of "The Window."

"Mrs. Boker," Kristen Haenggi, and "Miss Millie," Lori Sypal, discuss how babies act more like adults than adults do. The play takes place in a New York City park.

"Hester," Sarah Wemhoff, and "Mary," Demetria Wade, carry their dead father, Jim Sokol, to the kitchen to place him in the deep freeze for keeping until the time when they can pronounce him dead and allude the death duty.

"Officer Avonzino," Jeff Loeske, tells "Mrs. Boker," Kristen Haenggi, to take her baby "Moe," Frank Ramaekers, home.

During curtain call cast members Jenni O'Neill, Demetria Wade, Sarah Wemhoff and Claire Larson present Jim Sokol to the audience.

STANDING CLOSE UP

Rich Tooley, Matt Hajek, Nikki Jones and Craig Rueschhoff pose in front of the Washington Monument.

Heading OUT of state for a week-long trip to Washington D.C. was something that 23 Scotus sophomores, juniors and seniors did during the second week of March for a firsthand look at the way the government is run. This was the largest group to ever make the trip, according to Mr. Jack Sadle, who once again sponsored the Close-Up trip and chaperoned the group.

Scotus students were paired with students from around the country as roommates, forming close friendships with peers from as far away as Massachusetts and Arizona. Participants in the Close-Up trip got to tour Capitol Hill, meet with their representative Bill Barrett, see a Broadway play and experience the sights, sounds and malls of the nation's capitol. "It was well worth it. I had a great time in D.C.," said senior Nikki Jones about the trip.

OUT OF STATE

OUT of town is where many Scotus students could be found last summer, attending various sports and special interest camps. This year two Scotus seniors were selected to attend the American Legion and Auxiliary Boys' and Girls' State in Lincoln the second week of June. Selected for Boys' State was Kelly Slusarski, and selected for Girls' State was Jenna Mullin. Both students participated in mock governments and elections while campaigning for office of their respective states. The boys and girls staterers also got to tour the legislative chambers and the Governor's Mansion. The week of activity ended with a dance for both groups, one of the only times the two met. "Girls' State was one of the best experiences of my life. I made a lot of great friends and had a wonderful time," said Jenna Mullin.

HEAD STAND

OUT of the question is what most students would think of spending two weeks of classes and homework in the summer. However, for five Scotus students, NSI (Nebraska Scholar's Institute) was more than just work. At NSI, students are given the chance to study in depth with gifted instructors something that interests them. They can take classes in science, social studies or fine arts. This year those who participated in this camp for gifted students were Jason Citta, Jason Feldhaus, Troy Langan, Demetria Wade and Sarah Wemhoff.

"SET THE NIGHT TO MUSIC"

Prom night is definitely a night that STANDS OUT in every juniors' and seniors' mind as they spend many months preparing for the big event. The men have it easy ... order a tux and a flower and they're set. However, the girls have to search and search for a dress, decide on a hair-do, worry about their weight, tan, do their nails ... okay you get the picture.

"Set the Night to Music" was the theme, for which the junior class selected and decorated. "The decorations were beautiful, the juniors did a great job," Eileen Dobesh said during her acceptance speech.

The dinner and the dance was held at Johnnie's Steak House. The menu consisted of roast beef, ham, shrimp, baked potato, corn, and for dessert strawberry delight (as if anyone had room for it). "I definitely got my money's worth on shrimp," senior Shawn Diederich said.

Prom night is a special night that will STAND OUT in the minds of all that attended. "This was the best prom we've had yet," junior class sponsor, Mr. Sadle said.

Kelly Slusarski and his date are swingin' while Brandi Buggi dances with a huge smile.

How romantic it is for Scott Harmeier and his date to hold hands across the dinner table at prom.

Brett Dallman and Jeff Micek definitely appear to be the studs of the evening.

PROM 1992

CLASS OF 92 ...

Seniors get their directions confused on their way to the island.

Seniors take measures to guard the staircase.

Tammy Gablenz, Paula Welsh, Kerry Robak, Jenni Styskal, and Jada Huss display the latest fashion.

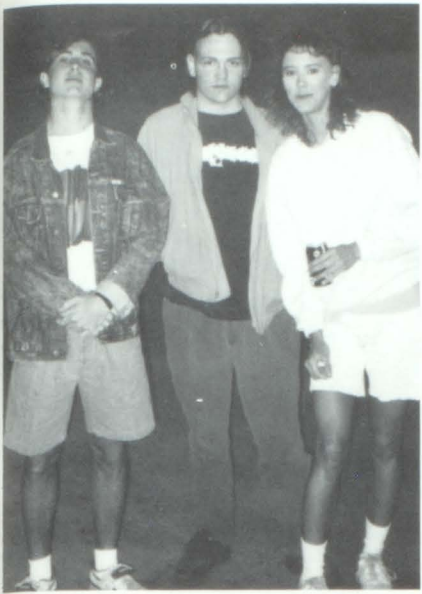

Jamie Happ and Jason Stephan show that they're not camera shy.

Seniors take time OUT to talk on the stairs.

Senior guys enjoy their last Scotus meal.

Luisma Tobaruela, Ben Tworek-Hofstetter, and Tammy Gablenz have fun on a nature walk.

Amy Kroenke and Scott Harmeier get tense while researching for their term paper.

Seniors get a little kooky during the last couple weeks of school.

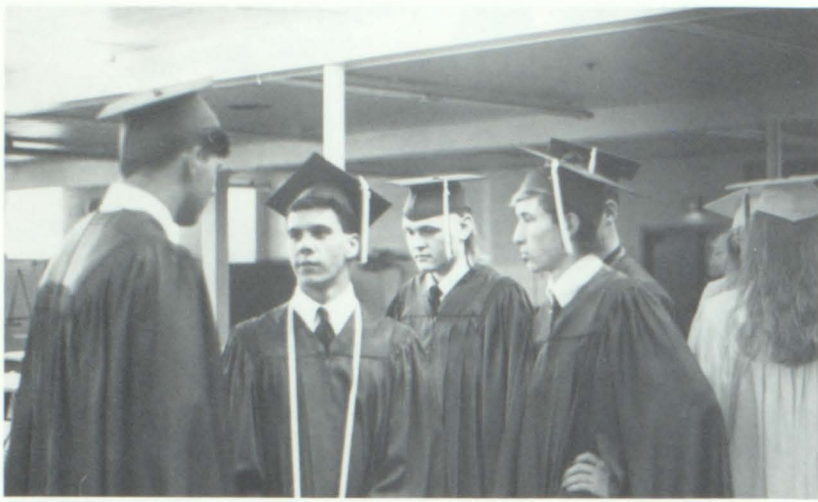

Jenni Fremarek, Craig Foreman and Matt Naughtin give a message of peace.

Shane Wemhoff, Shawn Diederich, and Jason Stephan sit illegally on the Scotus heater.

Senior guys wonder "Who ate it?"

Matt Naughtin gives his parents a rose during the graduation mass.

Jason Citta, Shane Pelster, and Tracy Wessel read the petitions for mass.

Craig Foreman receives his diploma from school board President Ketter.

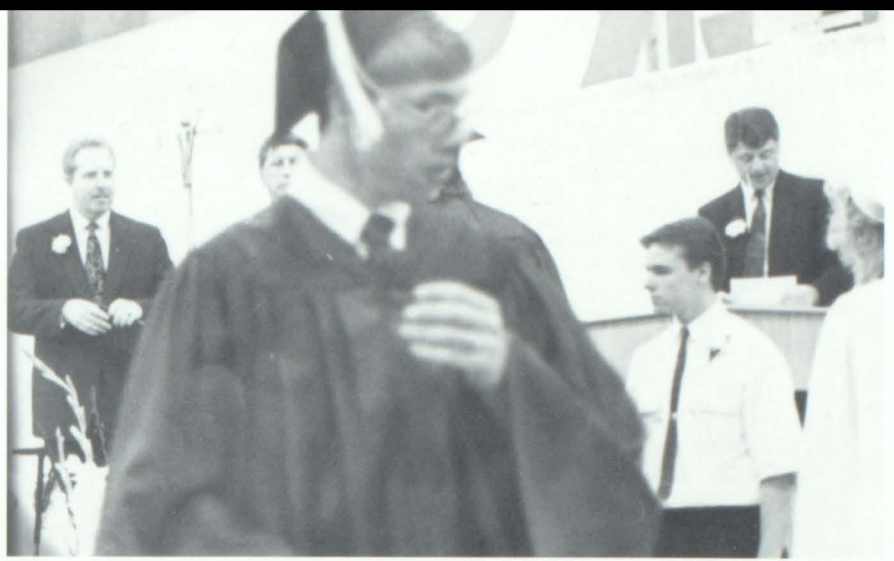

EME's line up their final time to distribute communion.

Class Motto

*Learn as though you'll live forever,
Live as though you'll die tomorrow.*

Class Flower-Class Song

Yellow rose-Don't Cry

WE'RE OUT OF HERE!

Here is the football team saying congratulations to Jason Stephan for becoming Homecoming King when he was crowned king after the North Platte football game.

Luisma Garcia Tobaruela jams down at a tape dance here at Scotus. Go Luisa!!

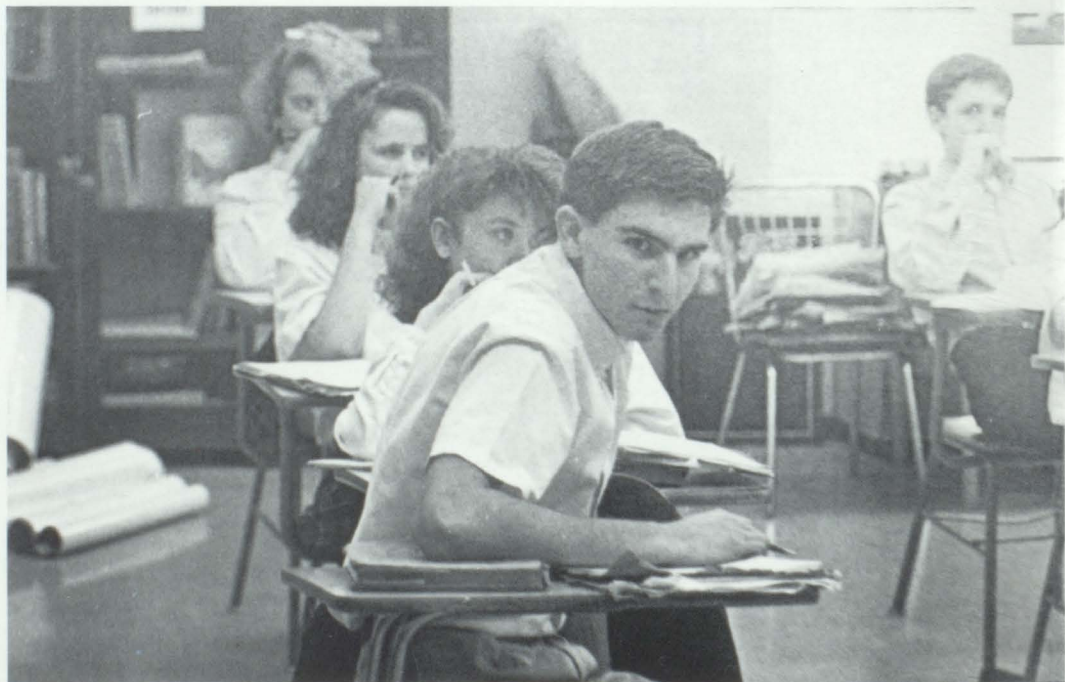

Craig Rueschoff and Julie Swanson stand in the hall at Lakeview after the sock competition at the Lakeview, Scotus dance.

All in all, those of us on the yearbook staff believe that this past year has been quite OUTSTANDING. We hope that you are pleased with the way that we have presented our 1991-1992 school year.

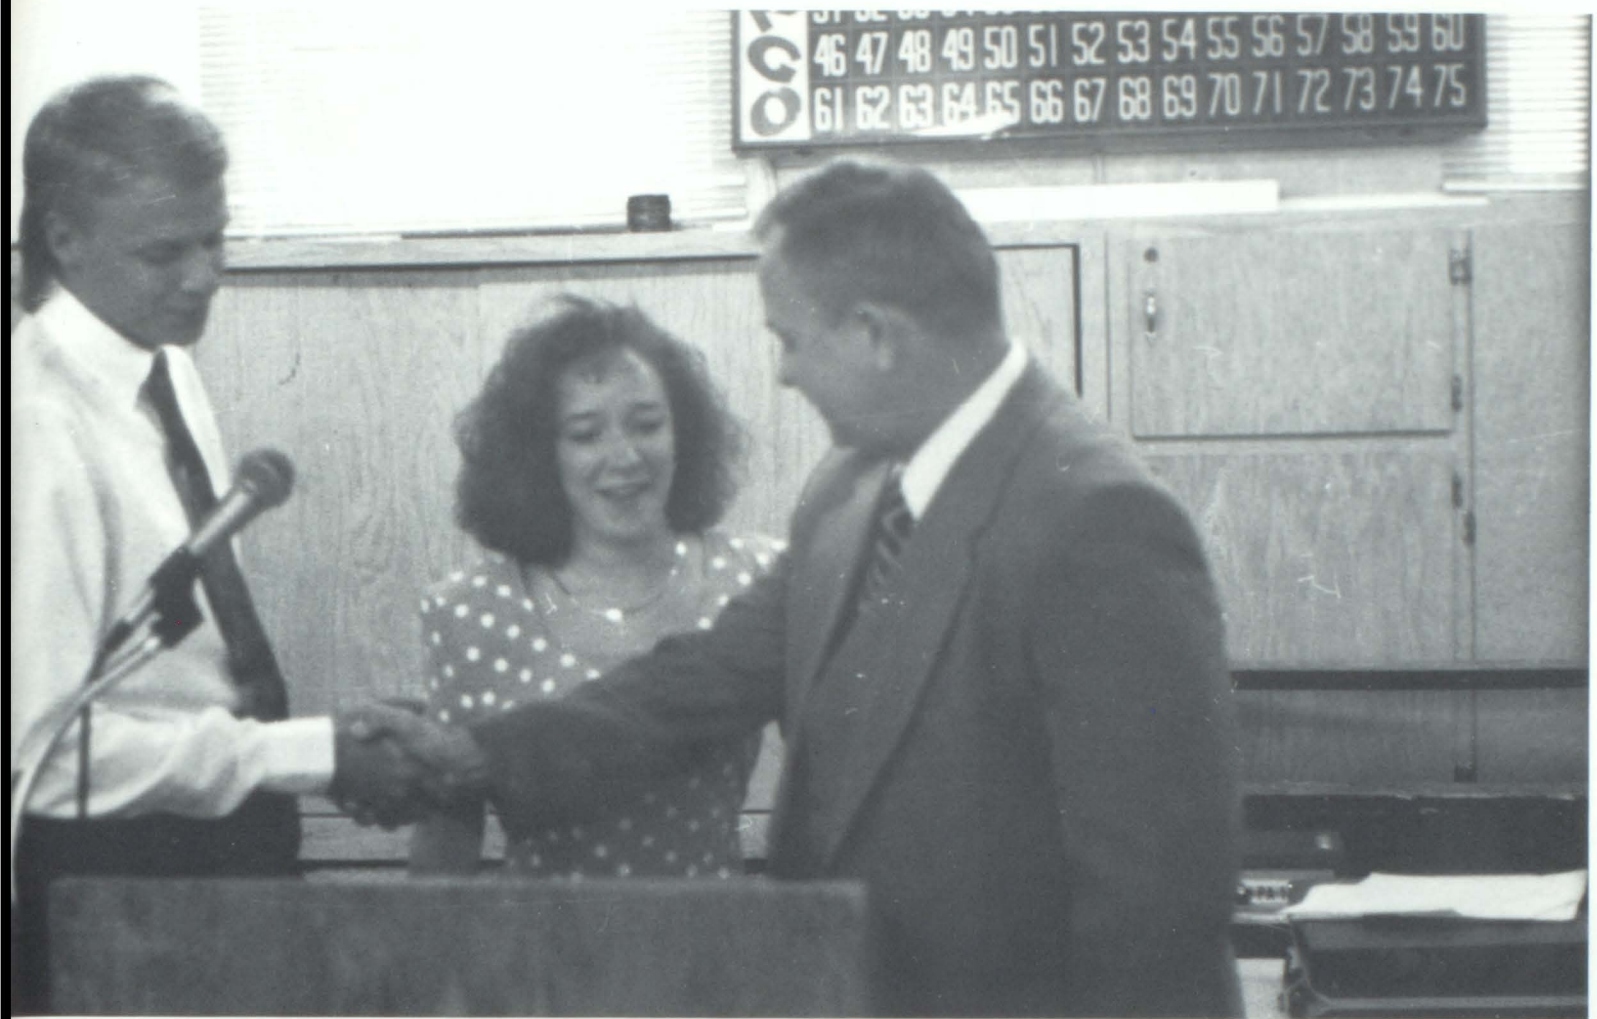

Many things have happened to cause change this past year. Whether they were good or bad, all of us have learned valuable lessons. We will lose a lot of trusted faculty this year such as high school teacher Jack Sadle, librarian Pat Whiteley, superintendent Duane Gross, counselor Sue Petersen, and last but not least, our music teacher Jack Roberts.

All of these people will always STAND OUT in our minds for making our years at Scotus memorable.

As Ryan Fleischer is distracted by movement and looks out the door of Senorita Felger's Spanish room, the camera captures a look of puzzlement on his face.

Shawn Diederich and Tara Boesch present teacher of the year to Mr. Jack Sadle.

This yearbook was published by Walsworth Publishing Company under the representation of Mr. Mike Diffenderfer. It sold at the beginning of the school year for $21.00 but then progressed to $27.00 by the end of the year. A dollar was added to the price of the yearbooks so each student's name would be stamped into their individual copies. The type styles and design were chosen by the yearbook staff and the book was finally finished at 4:00 p. m. on Saturday, June 27, by Ms. Jeanne Schieffer, Advisor.

Education is the primary goal of Scotus. Teaching the students to be contributing citizens and learned individuals is what makes Scotus so OUTSTANDING. Here, Nicole Sand, Amy Tubbs, and Julie Swanson teach German to fourth grade students at St. Bonaventure Elementary School, demonstrating the importance of not only learning a foreign language but of getting a good education and giving back a little of what they've gained. All students listed on these two pages were assured the opportunity to receive an education founded in the teachings of the Gospel Message to become competent, contributing members of society.
